More than 200,000 demonstrators gathered on Independence Square (Maidan Nezalezhnosti)
Course Description:
This course examines the events and values of Ukraine’s Euromaidan (also known as the Revolution of Dignity) against the background of Europe and Russia. It focuses on the origins and the aftermath of Europe’s first major geopolitical conflict in the 21st century. National and imperial discourses, memory politics, cultural and artistic features, and the role of social media are highlighted.

Beginning with a brief overview of Ukraine’s modern history, this course will retrace the dramatic events that took place in the capital’s Independence Square (Maidan Nezalezhnosti), as well as the squares of other urban centres, from November 2013 through the elections of May 2014. It then continues investigating current developments, especially Russia’s manufactured war in Eastern Ukraine and the most recent presidential election in the USA.

We will look at the discourses emanating from Ukraine, Europe and Russia, examining the civic values they represent. The issue of violence and nonviolent civic disobedience is explored. We highlight the role of women, the Church, educational institutions and cultural minorities (Muslims and Jews) in the creation of a pluralistic society. Guest lectures.

Course Objectives:
At the end of this course, students will be able to understand the complexities of European history and the structure of the European Union, as well as the manner in which competing narratives have influenced European and North American perceptions of Ukrainian, Polish and Russian cultures. They will also be able to discern the difference between scholarly, journalistic and propaganda discourses.

Required Readings:
Andrey Kurkov, Ukraine Diaries. Dispatches from Kiev (Harvill Secker, 2014). Sections to be subdivided among all class members.

Suggested Background Reading:
Serhy Yekelchyk, Ukraine: Birth of a Modern Nation (Oxford University Press, 2007).

(All three books available on Amazon, as Kindle Books.)

All other readings, consisting for the most part of brief newspaper items or Internet texts, will be available online or in PDF format.
A Ukrainian Jew prays for the success of the Maidan. A Muslim Mufti speaks to Maidan demonstrators.

Required Notes:
“Policy about course outlines can be found in the Evaluation Procedures and Grading System of the University Calendar.”
Academic Integrity:
“The University of Alberta is committed to the highest standards of academic integrity and honesty. Students are expected to be familiar with these standards regarding academic honesty and to uphold the policies of the University in this respect. Students are particularly urged to familiarize themselves with the provisions of the Code of Student Behaviour (online at www.governance.ualberta.ca) and avoid any behaviour that could potentially result in suspicions of cheating, plagiarism, misrepresentation of facts and/or participation in an offence. Academic dishonesty is a serious offence and can result in suspension or expulsion from the University.”

Learning and Working Environment:
The Faculty of Arts is committed to ensuring all students; faculty and staff are able to study and work in an environment that is safe and free from discrimination and harassment. It does not tolerate behaviour that undermines that environment. The Department urges anyone who feels that this policy is being violated to:
- Discuss the matter with the person whose behaviour is causing concern; or
- If that discussion is unsatisfactory, or there is concern that direct discussion is inappropriate or threatening, discuss it with the Chair of the Department.

For additional advice or assistance regarding this policy you may contact the Office of the Student Ombuds. Information about the University of Alberta Discrimination and Harassment Policy and Procedures is described in UAPPOL.

Academic Honesty:
All students should consult the information provided by the Student Conduct & Accountability Office regarding avoiding cheating and plagiarism in particular and academic dishonesty in general (see the Academic Integrity Undergraduate Handbook and Information for Students). If in doubt about what is permitted in this class, ask the instructor.

Students involved in language courses and translation courses should be aware that on-line “translation engines” produce very dubious and unreliable “translations.” Students in languages courses should be aware that, while seeking the advice of native or expert speakers is often helpful, excessive editorial and creative help in assignments is considered a form of “cheating” that violates the code of student conduct with dire consequences.

An instructor or coordinator who is convinced that a student has handed in work that he or she could not possibly reproduce without outside assistance is obliged, out of consideration of fairness to other students, to report the case to the Associate Dean of the Faculty. See the Academic Discipline Process.

Recording of Lectures:
Audio or video recording, digital or otherwise, of lectures, labs, seminars or any other teaching environment by students is allowed only with the prior written consent of the instructor or as a part of an approved accommodation plan. Student or instructor content, digital or otherwise, created and/or used within the context of the course is to be used solely for personal study, and is not to be used or distributed for any other purpose without prior written consent from the content author(s).

Attendance, Absences, and Missed Grade Components:
Regular attendance is essential for optimal performance in any course. In cases of potentially excusable absences due to illness or domestic affliction, notify your instructor by e-mail within two days. Regarding absences that may be excusable and procedures for addressing course components missed as a result, consult sections Attendance and Examinations of the University Calendar. Be aware that unexcused absences will result in partial or total loss of the grade for the “attendance and participation” component(s) of a course, as well as for any assignments that are not handed-in or completed as a result.
Attendance, Absences, and Missed Grade Components:

Regular attendance is essential for optimal performance in any course. In cases of potentially excusable absences due to illness or domestic affliction, notify your instructor by e-mail within two days. In this course attendance and participation is mandatory. Each absence will result in a 1-point deduction from both the Attendance and Participation parts (30%) of the grade. PLEASE ARRIVE ON TIME.

Policy for Late Assignments:

There will be no make-up opportunities for missed quizzes. There will be a 10% deduction for the late submission of the Take-Home Test.

Student Accessibility Services:

If you have special needs that could affect your performance in this class, please let me know during the first week of the term so that appropriate arrangements can be made. If you are not already registered with Student Accessibility Services, contact their office immediately (1-80 SUB; Email sasrec@ualberta.ca; Email; phone 780-492-3381).

Grading:

Assessment of the individual course components may be in the form of numerical marks or letter grades. The final letter grade will be based on “a combination of absolute achievement and relative performance in a class” (University Calendar, Evaluation Procedures and Grading System). The University Grading Procedure mandates that “a student’s level of achievement of the goals/outcomes of a course, their grade, and the descriptor of that grade must be aligned” (https://policiesonline.ualberta.ca/). The following guidelines have been adopted by the Department of Modern Languages and Cultural Studies:
