Course Description and Objectives:
The main objective of this course is to familiarize students with the history of translation and theoretical issues associated with it. In all aspects of the course, emphasis will be placed on contributions made by translators to the intellectual and cultural history of literature and the other arts. The roles of the translator, and of translation will be analyzed diachronically in order to gain some understanding of how translation has been practiced, perceived, and applied over the centuries.
Students will participate in group discussions, so it is imperative to come to class prepared to discuss assigned readings and weekly assignments. On completion of this course, students should be able to (a) demonstrate an understanding of issues in translation history; (b) demonstrate an advanced knowledge of translation strategies; (c) demonstrate an awareness of issues surrounding the translation of poetry, prose, and non-literary texts from an historical perspective.

Texts:

Other photocopied material and online material provided by the instructor as needed.

Grade Distribution (see “Explanatory Notes”):

- Participation (presence, in-class exercises, homework) 15%
- Class presentation (schedule TBD in consultation with instructor) 15%
- Two take-home assignments (due 26 February & 28 March) 40%
- Final Research Paper (due 13 April) 30%

Note: There is no final examination in this course.

Explanatory Notes on Assignments:

Attendance will be taken in class. Students are required to attend classes regularly. Some participation evaluation activities take place during class time and cannot be made up, except under exceptional circumstances. Late arrivals beyond 15 minutes will count as an absence. Unexcused absences will affect the student’s mark. Students who miss more than five lectures will seriously undermine their performance.

Take-home assignments will involve researching a scholarly article online dealing with the history of translation in the student’s preferred LOE and writing an abstract and short paper (1000 words) describing and analyzing the article.

The final research paper topic will be chosen in consultation with the instructor and will involve online research and a paper of 10-12 pages in length (suitable for presentation at a conference).

Required Notes:

“Policy about course outlines can be found in the Evaluation Procedures and Grading System of the University Calendar.”

Academic Integrity:

“The University of Alberta is committed to the highest standards of academic integrity and honesty. Students are expected to be familiar with these standards regarding academic honesty and to uphold the policies of the University in this respect. Students are particularly urged to familiarize themselves with the provisions of the Code of Student Behaviour (online at www.governance.ualberta.ca) and avoid any behaviour that could potentially result in suspicions of cheating, plagiarism, misrepresentation of facts and/or participation in an offence. Academic dishonesty is a serious offence and can result in suspension or expulsion from the University."

Learning and Working Environment:
The Faculty of Arts is committed to ensuring all students; faculty and staff are able to study and work in an environment that is safe and free from discrimination and harassment. It does not tolerate behaviour that undermines that environment. The Department urges anyone who feels that this policy is being violated to:

- Discuss the matter with the person whose behaviour is causing concern; or
- If that discussion is unsatisfactory, or there is concern that direct discussion is inappropriate or threatening, discuss it with the Chair of the Department.

For additional advice or assistance regarding this policy you may contact the Office of the Student Ombuds. Information about the University of Alberta Discrimination and Harassment Policy and Procedures is described in UAPPOL.

Academic Honesty:
All students should consult the information provided by the Student Conduct & Accountability Office regarding avoiding cheating and plagiarism in particular and academic dishonesty in general (see the Academic Integrity Undergraduate Handbook and Information for Students). If in doubt about what is permitted in this class, ask the instructor.

Students involved in language courses and translation courses should be aware that on-line “translation engines” produce very dubious and unreliable “translations.” Students in languages courses should be aware that, while seeking the advice of native or expert speakers is often helpful, excessive editorial and creative help in assignments is considered a form of “cheating” that violates the code of student conduct with dire consequences.

An instructor or coordinator who is convinced that a student has handed in work that he or she could not possibly reproduce without outside assistance is obliged, out of consideration of fairness to other students, to report the case to the Associate Dean of the Faculty. See the Academic Discipline Process.

Recording of Lectures:
Audio or video recording, digital or otherwise, of lectures, labs, seminars or any other teaching environment by students is allowed only with the prior written consent of the instructor or as a part of an approved accommodation plan. Student or instructor content, digital or otherwise, created and/or used within the context of the course is to be used solely for personal study, and is not to be used
Attendance, Absences, and Missed Grade Components:
Regular attendance is essential for optimal performance in any course. In cases of potentially excusable absences due to illness or domestic affliction, notify your instructor by e-mail within two days. Regarding absences that may be excusable and procedures for addressing course components missed as a result, consult sections Attendance and Examinations of the University Calendar. Be aware that unexcused absences will result in partial or total loss of the grade for the “attendance and participation” component(s) of a course, as well as for any assignments that are not handed-in or completed as a result.

Policy for Late Assignments:
Students unable to hand in assignments on time must contact the instructor in writing for an extension at least two days prior to the due date. Extensions will only be granted in unusual circumstances. Lack of time and assignments due in other courses do not constitute valid excuses.

Student Accessibility Services:
If you have special needs that could affect your performance in this class, please let me know during the first week of the term so that appropriate arrangements can be made. If you are not already registered with Student Accessibility Services, contact their office immediately (1-80 SUB; Email sasrec@ualberta.ca; Email; phone 780-492-3381).

Grading:
Assessment of the individual course components may be in the form of numerical marks or letter grades. The final letter grade will be based on "a combination of absolute achievement and relative performance in a class" (University Calendar, Evaluation Procedures and Grading System). The University Grading Procedure mandates that "a student’s level of achievement of the goals/outcomes of a course, their grade, and the descriptor of that grade must be aligned" (https://policiesonline.ualberta.ca/). The following guidelines have been adopted by the Department of Modern Languages and Cultural Studies:
