FACULTY of ARTS guide to
CAREERS
“An Arts degree is one of the most versatile and practical degrees for today’s quickly changing world.

By developing transferable skills in areas such as communications and writing, problem solving, teamwork, and critical thinking and analysis, you will open the door to a wealth of career opportunities in every sector.”

- Acting Dean, Lise Gotell

LEARNING BEYOND THE CLASSROOM

CRIMINOLOGY
Students apply their classroom knowledge in a work environment through two field placements with criminal justice system agencies. Undergraduates work two days a week during the term and the placements are arranged in cooperation with the agency, advisor and student.
A research paper must be completed during the term to enhance and demonstrate their field experience.
For more information: sociology.ualberta.ca

FINE ARTS
The Fine Arts include Art & Design, Drama and Music. All three provide opportunities for students to apply classroom knowledge to their field.

Activities include:
- Creating artwork, props sets and music for public exhibition
- Performing for the public
- Managing events and performances

COMMUNITY SERVICE LEARNING (CSL)
Our CSL courses provide community projects that enhance the skills of our Arts students and aid our partnering non-profit organizations.
By completing a number of CSL courses Arts students earn a certificate in Community Engagement and Service-Learning to add to their degree and improve their résumés for their career ambitions.

For more information: csl.ualberta.ca
The Faculty of Arts offers certificate programs that can be completed in conjunction with your degrees. These certificates offer you the opportunity to enhance your understanding of particular topics and gain more credentials to assist you when you enter the workforce or graduate studies. Application for all certificates is made at the Faculty of Arts office.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT AND SERVICE-LEARNING
Gain formal recognition of your community service-learning experience by applying for a Certificate in Community Engagement Service-Learning, the only certificate of its kind in Canada. Having this certificate on your transcript will set you apart from other graduates and indicate to employers that you've got what it takes to immerse yourself in their community.

COMPUTER GAME DEVELOPMENT
A joint certificate between the Faculty of Arts and the Faculty of Science and is open to students enrolled in any bachelor degree program in a U of A faculty. This certificate provides an advantage to students seeking a career working in either an existing game company or starting their own independent studio.

ECONOMICS AND THE MANAGEMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES, ENERGY AND ENVIRONMENT
Offers students access to a structured program in the study of economics and the management of natural resources, energy and the environment with a unique cross-disciplinary look at related economic, business and public policy issues. Available to Economics majors only.

EUROPEAN STUDIES
Centres upon sounds, techniques, and disciplines from beyond the standard western music conservatory. Recognizes musical training relevant to careers in music technology, ethnomusicology and the sociology of music. This certificate promotes the development of new collaborations with European institutes in teaching and research. Students participating in this program will increase their knowledge of European cultures, literatures and ideas, politics and history, leading to a better understanding of political and cultural identities and differences. Available to students across the University, regardless of Faculty or program.

GLOBALIZATION & GOVERNANCE
For students interested in opportunities in finance, international business, national and international business and public policy issues. Available to Economics majors only.

INTERNATIONAL LEARNING
This certificate provides students recognition for the international knowledge and skills they have acquired in their undergraduate study at the University. Earning this certificate will indicate to employers and graduate schools that the students have taken courses, have had international or cross-cultural experiences through which they have developed the ability to understand, communicate with, and effectively interact with people across cultures and that they are prepared to take responsibilities as citizens of the world. Available to students across the University, regardless of Faculty or program.

APPLIED CIVIL MILITARY LEADERSHIP
In addition to completing a standard university undergraduate curriculum, students will become familiar with basic elements of citizenship, national identity and nation building, personal growth, leadership development and basic military training, while developing attributes such as efficacy and self-discipline.

FINANCE
For students interested in opportunities in finance, international business, national and international business and public policy issues. Available to Economics majors only.

COURSES
Credit courses in this certificate have been selected to reflect the theoretical aspect of game design and include courses such as CMPUT 250 – Computers and Games, CMPUT 350 – Advanced Games Programming, IST 350: History of Video Games and WRITE 397: Creative Writing for Video Games.

Translation Studies
Centres upon sounds, techniques, and disciplines from beyond the standard western music conservatory. Recognizes musical training relevant to careers in music technology, ethnomusicology and the sociology of music. This certificate promotes the development of new collaborations with European institutes in teaching and research. Students participating in this program will increase their knowledge of European cultures, literatures and ideas, politics and history, leading to a better understanding of political and cultural identities and differences.
